BABY SATELLITE — A model of the 6.4-inch, four-pound baby satellite that will be launched shortly is shown perched atop a simulated third-stage solid rocket motor. It's in the top of the 72-foot Vanguard launching rocket in the Martin Company's test tower in Baltimore. Power to transmit radio signals back to earth will be furnished by solar-powered batteries which harness sun's rays that enter through portholes in the satellite's shell.

Brings Gusty Winds, Snow Flurries

Cold Air Sweeping East Across Nation

A cold air mass which brought numbing temperatures to the north central portion of the nation moved eastward today and produced gusty winds and snow flurries from the Great Lakes southward to the mid-Mississippi Valley.

An area stretching from the central Rockies and northern plains to the Great Lakes was turned into a vast ice box. Fraser, Colo., high in the Rockies, had a reading of 18 below zero. Generally, temperatures ranged from 10 above to a few degrees below zero.

County Court Sites Unchanged

Judges Re-Assigned; Fitch To Preside Here

LISBON — Columbiana County's new county courts will be located in Salem, East Palestine and Lisbon, the sites originally established, it was announced Friday by Joel H. Sharp and Raymond Butzard following a public meeting on the court locations at the Court-house.

The three new judges were re-assigned as follows: John C. Fitch of Lisbon, to preside at Salem; Luther Donbar of Columbiana, East Palestine; and Samuel Crawford of Madison Township, Lisbon. Previously Fitch was assigned to Lisbon, Donbar to Salem and Earl Spalding of East Palestine to East Palestine. The judges were given new territories after a recount of votes showed Crawford had won instead of Spalding.

Re-assignment was made so each would have to drive an equal distance to his job, the common pleas judges said.

The judges ruled out the possibility of changing the boundaries.

County Skips Year Without Polio Case

Dr. C. S. Palmer, Columbiana County health commissioner, reported today that no polio cases have been reported to his office for the first 11 months of 1957.

Last year's report shows there were four mild cases of polio in the county health district. In 1955 there were 15 polio cases, one fatal and five being paralytic. High year was in 1954 with 25 cases reported. In 1953 there were only 3 cases reported.

The county district includes all the county except the four cities of Salem, East Liverpool, Wells-ville and East Palestine.

Dr. Palmer attributed the decline to the Salk vaccine which was given to most of the school children.

Dag Making Peace Mission To Mid-East

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld was flying to Beirut today on the first leg of a Middle East peace mission.

He left New York Friday night to begin a week of on-the-spot conversations designed to ease tensions that have flared up in recent weeks along Israel's Arab borders.

The secretary general planned to leave Beirut Sunday for Amman, capital of Jordan. He expected to go to Jerusalem on Tuesday and possibly to Damascus, Syria, afterward.

Hammarskjöld's principal business in Amman will be to discuss a Jordanian charge that U.S. Marine Col. Byron Leary, acting head of the U.N. Truce supervisory organization, showed bias in handling a recent Jordan-Israeli convoy incident.

Burglars Get $1.40 At Poultry Plant

LISBON — The Columbiana Sheriff's office is investigating a breaking and entering of the North East Ohio Poultry Association plant west of Columbiana on old Rt. 14.

Entrance was made through an unlocked door at the rear of the building, Deputy Howard R. Gray reported. The deputy said $1.40 was stolen but nothing else in the building was disturbed.

Sen. Humphrey Praises Recent Missile Moves

Declares He Hopes 'Sense of Urgency' Will Not Evaporate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), applauding recent moves to strengthen U. S. missile capability, said today he hopes "the sense of urgency will not evaporate as time goes on."

Humphrey called on the Eisenhower administration to "come to Congress with a program that is equal to the demands of national security and survival, and commensurate with the scope of the Soviet menace"—even if such a program should require higher taxes.

The Minnesota senator spoke out in an interview after these developments:

1. The Air Force announced a number of organizational shifts in connection with efforts to put long range U.S. missiles on an operational basis. One of the most important of these moves was transfer of responsibility for both intercontinental and intermediate range ballistic missiles in their "initial operational capability phase" from the Air Research and Development Command to the Strategic Air Command. SAC has charge of this nation's retaliatory striking force, including long range nuclear bombers.

2. Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of Staff, also announced the Air Force is working on an anti-missile missile called the Wizard. White said its perfection "will be a terrifically difficult problem, but I think we will lick it."

Humphrey welcomed these new moves, along with a recently announced decision to order production of the Army's Jupiter and the Air Force's Thor, both of them intermediate range ballistic missiles with a planned range of up to 1,500 miles.

He said testimony before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, investigating the U.S. missile program, indicates the Russians are ahead of the United States in important areas of rocketry.

Humphrey said "It is more important to have the balance of power on the side of the free world than it is to have a balanced budget."

White made the announcement of the new Air Force moves in the missiles field during a talk before the National Press Club Friday.

White also said there will be one or two more generations of manned bombers before the United States puts its defense reliance solely on long range missiles. He did not spell out what specific time period would be involved.

Meanwhile, he said, "we hope to have the ICBM well in hand."

The Air Force is working on two ICBMs—the Atlas and the Titan—but both are believed behind the intermediate range weapons in development. ICBMs are intended to reach targets 5,000 miles away.

The San Diego, Calif., Union said Friday night in a copyrighted story that an Atlas, set for test firing at Cape Canaveral, Fla., had been damaged and a scheduled flight trial today postponed. There was no word on this from official sources.

Repairs that must be made before the Atlas is ready for launching may take upwards of two weeks, the Union said. The exact nature of the trouble could not be learned, according to the newspaper.

Cub Scout Pow Wow To Be Held Sunday

Cub Scout leaders of the Northern District of Columbiana Council Boy Scouts of America, will gather at Buckeye School Sunday afternoon for their annual Cub Scout Pow Wow.

Over one hundred Cub Scout leaders will begin their meeting at 2 p.m. Most of the afternoon will be spent studying handicraft projects which the leaders will teach their Cubs in the coming year.

A Blue and Gold Banquet will be held for the leaders to begin at 6:30 p.m.

Algerian Home Rule Plan Ok'd

Rebels State Move Won't End Fighting

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly approved Friday night plans for restricted home rule in war-torn Algeria. The plans had leaders as insufficient to stop the three-year-old war.

Two bills were passed on votes of confidence in Premier Felix Gaillard's government after the young Premier had rejected a Moroccan-Tunisian offer to mediate the Algerian rebellion. Gaillard said France would welcome help in achieving a cease-fire.

Gaillard succeeded where the last government failed, causing its downfall, to ram the bills through a turbulent Assembly.

The bills make no concessions toward eventual independence for Algeria, which Frenchmen consider part of metropolitan France rather than a colony. The rebels

Murder Trial In Canton Is Recessed

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The first degree murder trial of Paul Perotti, 33, of Chardon, and Alfred Calabrese, 37, of Cleveland is in recess until Monday because two defense witnesses from Ohio Penitentiary failed to appear Friday.

Prosecutor Norman J. Putman asked that the record show it was not his office that was responsible for failure of the two witnesses to appear at the afternoon session as planned.

Perotti and Calabrese are charged with the shooting of Eldon Shoup, 27, in a burglary at the Alliance home of Frank Wells. Shoup and his father were employed as caretakers.

Relatives of Perotti, including a Benedictine nun and a Navy chief petty officer, testified Friday to support Perotti's claim that he and Calabrese were returning from a trip to Florida Feb. 7 when Shoup was slain.

2 Men, Woman Arrested by FBI

Alleged Bank Robbers Caught in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents arrested two men and a woman in a motel here early today, ending a search for six persons wanted in connection with the $13,942 holdup of a Corbin, Ky., bank.

The robbery of the South Corbin Branch of the First National Bank occurred Friday.

Ed Mason, agent in charge of the FBI, said all but $531 of the money taken in the robbery had been recovered.

Those arrested here were listed as Thelma Lavone Gallo, 25; Elmer Roscoe Eaton, 27; and Daniel Duane Maness, 27.

The FBI agents said Mrs. Gallo, also known as Mrs. Hubert Tucker and Eaton had three loaded revolvers and $53.27 in their room in the motel. Maness was unarmed but had $3,860.

Three other persons were arrested Friday in Kentucky in connection with the holdup.

They were Ernest Jean Eaton of Cincinnati and Corbin, a brother of the man arrested here. He was taken into custody near Corbin and had $200.

Francis Joseph Lucier, 27, and Jeanne Evelyn Berdion, 18, of San Francisco, Calif., were arrested at a road block at London, Ky., about 18 miles south of Corbin and Mason said they had $4,079.

Mason said all six have been charged with bank robbery.

The raid at the motel came after FBI investigation of a tip that some of the suspects in the bank robbery had stayed here last Saturday. The search turned to the motel in suburban Roselawn came after officers learned persons driving a car with license plates issued at Corbin had registered as from Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Gallo, also has used the name Morningstar. FBI agents said, and formerly was a target for professional archers who shot

Accident Occurs On Eve of Her Son's Wedding

Alliance Crossing Is Scene; 3 Other Persons Are Injured

A 47-year-old Lisbon woman was killed on the eve of her son's wedding when a passenger train struck the car in which she was riding one-half mile east of Alliance at 2 p.m. Friday.

Dead is Mrs. Anna E. Dille of RD 3, Lisbon. She was in a car driven by her son, Gerald R. Dille, 25, who was to be married at 8 tonight in the First Nazarene Church in Lisbon.

Injured in the accident were the driver, Miss Charlene Wright, 19, of RD 3, Alliance, the bride-to-be; and Sharon Lee Dille, 10, sister of the bridegroom-to-be.

Miss Wright and Miss Dille were admitted to Alliance City Hospital with multiple bruises and abrasions and severe shock. Their conditions are described as fair. Gerald Dille was treated for cuts and scratches and released.

The Pennsylvania Railroad train struck the car at the Oyster Road crossing as the group was en route to the home of Mrs. Elie Bowne of RD 3, Alliance, mother of the bride-to-be.

All the passengers were thrown from the car by the impact, according to Sebring police. The auto, a two-door sedan was knocked into a 20-foot ditch about 60 feet

U.S. Part Of Seaway 75% Completed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 114-mile U.S. portion of the St. Lawrence Seaway is now more than 75 per cent complete.

The mammoth project — one of the greatest ever attempted on continental North America — is a joint venture of the United States and Canada.

Opening of the 27-foot-deep waterway, to permit deep-draft shipping between the Atlantic and the Great Lakes, is scheduled for early 1959.

The St. Lawrence Seaway development Corp., the agency created by Congress to construct and administer the U.S. portion of the project, said today in its monthly progress report that it has awarded construction contracts totaling $9,300,451.

The corporation, in detailing highlights of the actual construction, said total excavation of the mainland portion of the long Sault Canal now has reached 13,077,000 cubic yards — more than 99 per cent of the contract amount.

AT THE FARM—Wearing a brown and white calfskin jacket and stetson hat, President Eisenhower holds a shotgun in his lap as he rides in the back of his car in Gettysburg, Pa. Mr. Eisenhower, resting at the farm after suffering a slight stroke, was on his way to visit neighbors.

Ike Plans to Watch Cadets Battle Navy

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower, reported making excellent progress recovering from a mild stroke, roots today for his West Point alma mater in watching the Army-Navy football game on television.

Eisenhower arrived at his farm from Washington by automobile early Friday afternoon, just four days after suffering a blockage of a small brain artery.

Continuing to snap back, Eisenhower prowled happily around the farm and enjoyed a visit with his four small grandchildren.

At dinner time, the President's physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, sent word to newsmen that his patient's recovery progress "continues to be excellent."

There still was no word whether Eisenhower will remain at the farm for the weekend or plan a more extended visit. His doctors have ordered several weeks of rest before he returns full time to his White House desk.

Ike Makes New Science Moves

Attempts to Hasten Technical Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has moved to tighten White House coordination of the U.S. effort to speed scientific and technological progress.

The White House announced Friday that the 12-member Science Advisory Committee, organized initially under the Office of Defense Mobilization, will work directly with the White House hereafter.

And the statement — issued in Gettysburg, Pa., where Eisenhower is convalescing from a slight stroke—also said the group would be expanded to a membership of 17.

The White House announcement came as U.S. specialists continued final preparations leading up to the launching of the first American satellite, expected sometime next week.

The announcement also coincided with predictions from some U.S. scientists that the rocket from Russia's Sputnik I may plunge to earth Sunday, and that it might fall in North America.

Dr. John P. Hagen of Washington, director of the U. S. Navy's satellite program, told a St. Louis audience Friday night:

For those who feel critical of the United States position in the satellite effort, I might suggest the proper course is to wait until the end of the International Geophysical Year (December 1958) and tally the significance of the Local Annexation Bid To Be Studied

The annexation of 66 acres of proposed building lots in the South-hill prior to the evening program, be considered by the Columbiana County Board of Commissioners at 10:30 a.m. Dec. 30.

Two Salem men, Vince Bober of 1955 E. Pershing St. and Joseph Fisher of 2014 Southeast Blvd., petitioned to the commissioners for their approval early last week.

The men plan to resell the land in the form of 175 building lots. "We are going to put in the streets and set up the utilities at no expense to the city," Fisher said.

Before the land can be officially annexed, both the County Board of Commissioners and City Council must give their approval.

Inquest Set Monday In Traffic Death

Columbiana County Coroner E. R. Sturgis will hold an inquest Monday night at 7 in City Hall in the death of a four-year-old Wadsworth boy killed by a car on Fair Ave. early Thursday afternoon.

The child, Tommy Gee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gee, darted into the path of a car driven by Glen Hoobler, 35, of 1683 Ridge-road Drive as he attempted to run across the street to play with some other children at 12:45 p.m., police said.

The victim was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital of a fractured skull.

Mr. and Mrs. Gee were spending Thanksgiving day with the victim's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hixenbaugh of 327 Fair Ave. when the tragedy occurred.

Church Women, Pastors Sponsor Schweitzer Film

The Salem Council of Church Women and the Salem Ministerial Association are jointly sponsoring the showing of the movie, "Albert Schweitzer," Dec. 10-12 at the State Theatre.

Evening presentations will be at 7:15 and 9:15 with a Dec. 11 matinee scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Tickets are being sold by the Council of Church Women and are also available at Heddleson's, McBane-McArtor and Lease Drug stores.

Proceeds will go to the Albert Schweitzer Hospital in Lambarene, French Equatorial Africa.

Eighty area ministers and school officials attended Tuesday's premiere showing of the film which is a definitive cinema biography of the Nobel Peace winner who has achieved world renown as a philosopher, theologian, missionary, physician and organizer.

Dr. Schweitzer appears throughout the feature-length picture which was photographed in the Albert Schweitzer Hospital at Lambarene and in his childhood village of Gunsbach, France. Six years were spent in compiling and editing the film.

The 82-year-old Schweitzer himself wrote the film's narrative, which is spoken by Fredrick March.

Bible Words for Today

EPHESIANS 4:32 — "And be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you." (King James)

To catch the full force of these words it should be noted that they were addressed, not to unbelievers and wicked men, but to Christians, church people, people whom St. Paul referred to as "the saints which are at Ephesus, and to the faithful in Christ Jesus."

On first thought one might assume that Christians would be the last people in the world to need an exhortation to be kind, tender-hearted, forgiving. Fact is, however, that your most devout follower of Christ is likely to be quickest to recognize and acknowledge how easily and how often he fails to live up to the example and spirit of his Master. Christ's presence is with His followers in their daily life, not only as their Hope and their Salvation, but also as their Judge. They are haunted unceasingly by the realization that they have yet a long way to go before they will be what He wants them to be.

Devout Christians know how pertinent was the little girl's prayer, "O God, make all the bad people good, and, please, make all the good people nice. Amen."

Dr. James E. Wagner, President, Evangelical and Reformed Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How to Be Alive In Body and Soul

You can never know when you are going to have an unforgettable experience. I had one on a cold, blustery morning last January in Muncie, Indiana. I had made a speech there the night before, and I arose early and went down to the dining room for breakfast.

Everyone else apparently had the same idea, for there wasn't a free table. But one man, sitting alone, looked up at me, seemed to recognize me, and courteously asked if I would sit with him. I had never seen him before nor have I seen him since, but I was happy to join him. And I'm glad that I did, for he certainly had something to transmit.

It's a great morning, isn't it, Doctor?" was the way he started out our conversation. I looked out the window and answered: It sure is. That's the greatest rain and slush I've seen in a long time.

"Oh," he said, "but it's cool and fresh. It's really a glorious morning."

"HOW BUSINESS?" was the only question I could think of to change the subject.

"Business is wonderful," he said, and started to tell me enthusiastically about a product he was selling.

"Tell me about your family," was my next suggestion.

And then he told me about how wonderful his wife and children are, and got me to talking with equal enthusiasm about my own.

In no time at all, I forgot about the cold, rainy, slushy day outside. This man had real vitality and dynamism in every sense. He made the morning seem good.

"Do you know, my friend," I told him, "you actually do me good. You're a real tonic. You're alive and you're making me come alive also. How is it that you're so full of enthusiasm?"

HE THEN POINTED TO a long scar on his forehead. "Not too long ago," he said, "I had a bad automobile accident. They took me to the hospital and I heard someone say, 'He won't live.' That thought kept turning over and over in my mind and I kept thinking 'I'm going to die.' But in that haze, more than anything else, I knew I wanted to live. And although I was conscious only part of the time, I kept concentrating on wanting to live. And then one day I heard a voice say, 'He's going to live!'"

"You have no ideal of the sharp burst of happiness that went through me. I knew I would see my children grow up, have more years of happiness with my wife, see my friends, and move about actively in the good world. I was going to live! It was so wonderful."

"Then, I began to think and to ask myself whether I had really lived before. And I had to admit that I hadn't — not to my fullest. So I decided to dedicate to God this new life that I had been given, and I ask Him to help me make more of it. And He did. Now, believe me, I can hardly wait to get up in the morning to enjoy this revived life, and actually I hate to go to sleep at night for fear I will miss something fascinating."

THIS REMARKABLE MAN had learned how really to be alive. Like him some people are very much alive, but others seemingly are crawling through life on their hands and knees.

Now, of course, I am not primarily referring to being physically alive. That is only part of it. I'm talking about the quality of being alive in which every element of your body, mind and soul are in vital harmony and communion with the Creator and the world and people.

How do you get to be alive in that complete manner? The Bible points the way: "In him we live, and move, and have our being." That means, of course, that you are incomplete unless you are in tune with God, that you've never been fully alive unless you've found God and experienced spiritual vitalization. God is life, and only in Him can you profoundly be alive.

Seilers Get New SA Assignment In Northern Rhodesia

Lt's Don and Audrey Seiler, who five years ago left the Salvation Army Post here to go to Africa as missionaries, have been temporarily transferred to another Northern Rhodesia mission site.

The Seilers for the past five years have served at the Chikan-ksta Hospital in Northern Rhodesia where Mrs. Seiler was an instructor of midwifery and assisted in training nurses. A leprosy dispensary has been started and numerous houses had been completed for lepers at the mission.

The city of Ndola, where the Seilers are now located, is one of the largest in Northern Rhodesia with a population of over 3,000 white people and many more thousand Africans, Indians and negroes.

Their work there entails running a Home for Aged Men, welfare work with families of broken homes and others, and acting as chaplains at the city prison.

When they leave Ndola in January, the Seilers will become officers in charge of a division and will supervise the African Salvation Army Corps and schools in that division.

The couple along with their son Glenn S., will sail for the United States from Capetown on Jan. 23, 1959, for their homeland farewell.

Wayne Dunn will direct the Young People's service at 7, which will be followed by evening evangelistic service Sunday at 7:30 when the sermon subject will be "Refuse Not Him That Speaketh."

Wednesday evening prayer service is 7:30.

Religion at Work

By EUGENE CARR

The Quiet Stranger

The tall, slender stranger looked at me with a kindly understanding in his eyes.

"In answer to your question," he said, "you people here have been mistaken about us since you first began speculating on the possibility of life on other planets."

You have pictured us as everything from a sinister form of semi-human animal to scientifically impelled supermen bent on war and destruction. In this, of course, you have been wrong."

"But don't you have wars?" I EXCLAIMED.

"No," the stranger replied, "we do not have war. We have never had what you call a war. We have had no reason at any time to wage war. Conflict in unknown to our world. I might add, however, that our observation of your difficulties here has been most convincing to us that we do not wish to follow your pattern of life."

"But how can you — how do you control the selfishness and greed that cause men to oppose one another — to resort to force for personal gain?"

"We simply do not depart from the purpose of our Maker in creating us in the first place," the stranger answered. "We, like you, were created to worship Him. We have held to that purpose; there is no place in it for selfishness, greed or the use of force."

I KNEW he spoke the truth. Only to look at him — his physique, his apparent good health, his calm but confident demeanor, his radiant intelligence — he stood before me, representative of a civilization unquestionably advanced far beyond anything known on earth.

"But how could you have done so much better as a people than we have done?" I asked. "We think of ourselves as civilized!"

The quiet stranger smiled. His expression was warm with alert interest.

"You made a mistake which you never have corrected," he said. "You turned away from God and have never completely turned to Him again. Until you do, you will continue to have difficulty."

"But how can we hope to bring some of our people around to this way of thinking?" I pleaded. "There are those on earth who won't go along with us! What can we do about them?"

THE STRANGER was thoughtful for a moment. Then he spoke, gently but firmly.

"It is obvious that you are leaving God out of His own plan for mankind," he said. "Apparently you are not counting on Him to do His part."

"If you and those of you who want a better way of life on earth would start with yourselves, where you are now, is it not conceivable that God would do the rest?"

I stood before the stranger, staring at the ground, pondering what he had said.

Were we leaving God out of our hopes and plans for a better world? Were we forgetting that He, too, has a part to play in the life of man on earth? Were we, ourselves, failing, while we complained about others?

Who would want to go along with us, as we are?

"Why don't you come to us — great numbers of you... to help us... to show us the way?" I asked.

I looked up; he was gone.

THEFT IS REPORTED

Leslie Dunlap of 1690 E. State St. Friday reported the theft of a wash bowl and plumbing fixtures valued at $30 from the house at 417 E. Pershing St., which he owns.

The thieves gained entrance by using a skeleton key. No other else in the house, which will be razed soon, had been touched, police said.

IN THE SERVICE

Receiving a promotion to the rating of petty officer first class in the U.S. Navy is Theodore R. Campbell, 22, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garnett S. Campbell of RD 3, Salem.

He is presently serving in the personnel office at the Hutchinson, Kas., air station.

He is the husband of the former Miss Virginia A. Lukanus of 1000 Prospect St.

A graduate of Leetonia High School, Campbell entered the naval service in May, 1952, at Akron. He served at the Akron Naval Air Station for a year and a half prior to duty in French Morocco. While in Africa from Sept., 1954, to April 1956, he was stationed at Port Lyauty with Air Transport Squadron 24.

Prior to reporting to Kansas in October of '56, Campbell served in the transport Darty in the Baltic Sea area and in the Mediterranean Sea.

Campbell has been awarded the Navy Good Conduct Medal, the National Defense Service Ribbon and the Navy Occupation Ribbon for Europe.

Campbell and his wife, Virginia, reside at 25 East 12th St., in Hutchinson.

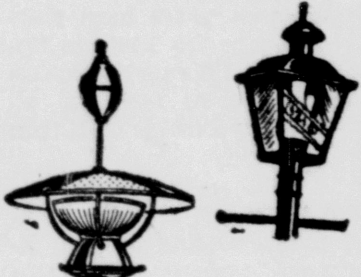

Pfc. Edward S. Blackburn, 20, son of Mrs. Hazel B. Johnson, 607 W. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, recently was graduated from the I Corps Non-Commissioned Officer Academy in Korea.

He received instruction in leadership, map reading and other military subjects.

Blackburn, a fire direction control specialist in Headquarters Company of the 3rd Infantry, arrived overseas last May. He entered the Army in November 1956 and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

While a civilian, Blackburn worked at the Youngstown YMCA. A 1955 graduate of David Anderson High School, he attended Kent State University.

Woman Quarrels Over Bible, Commits Suicide

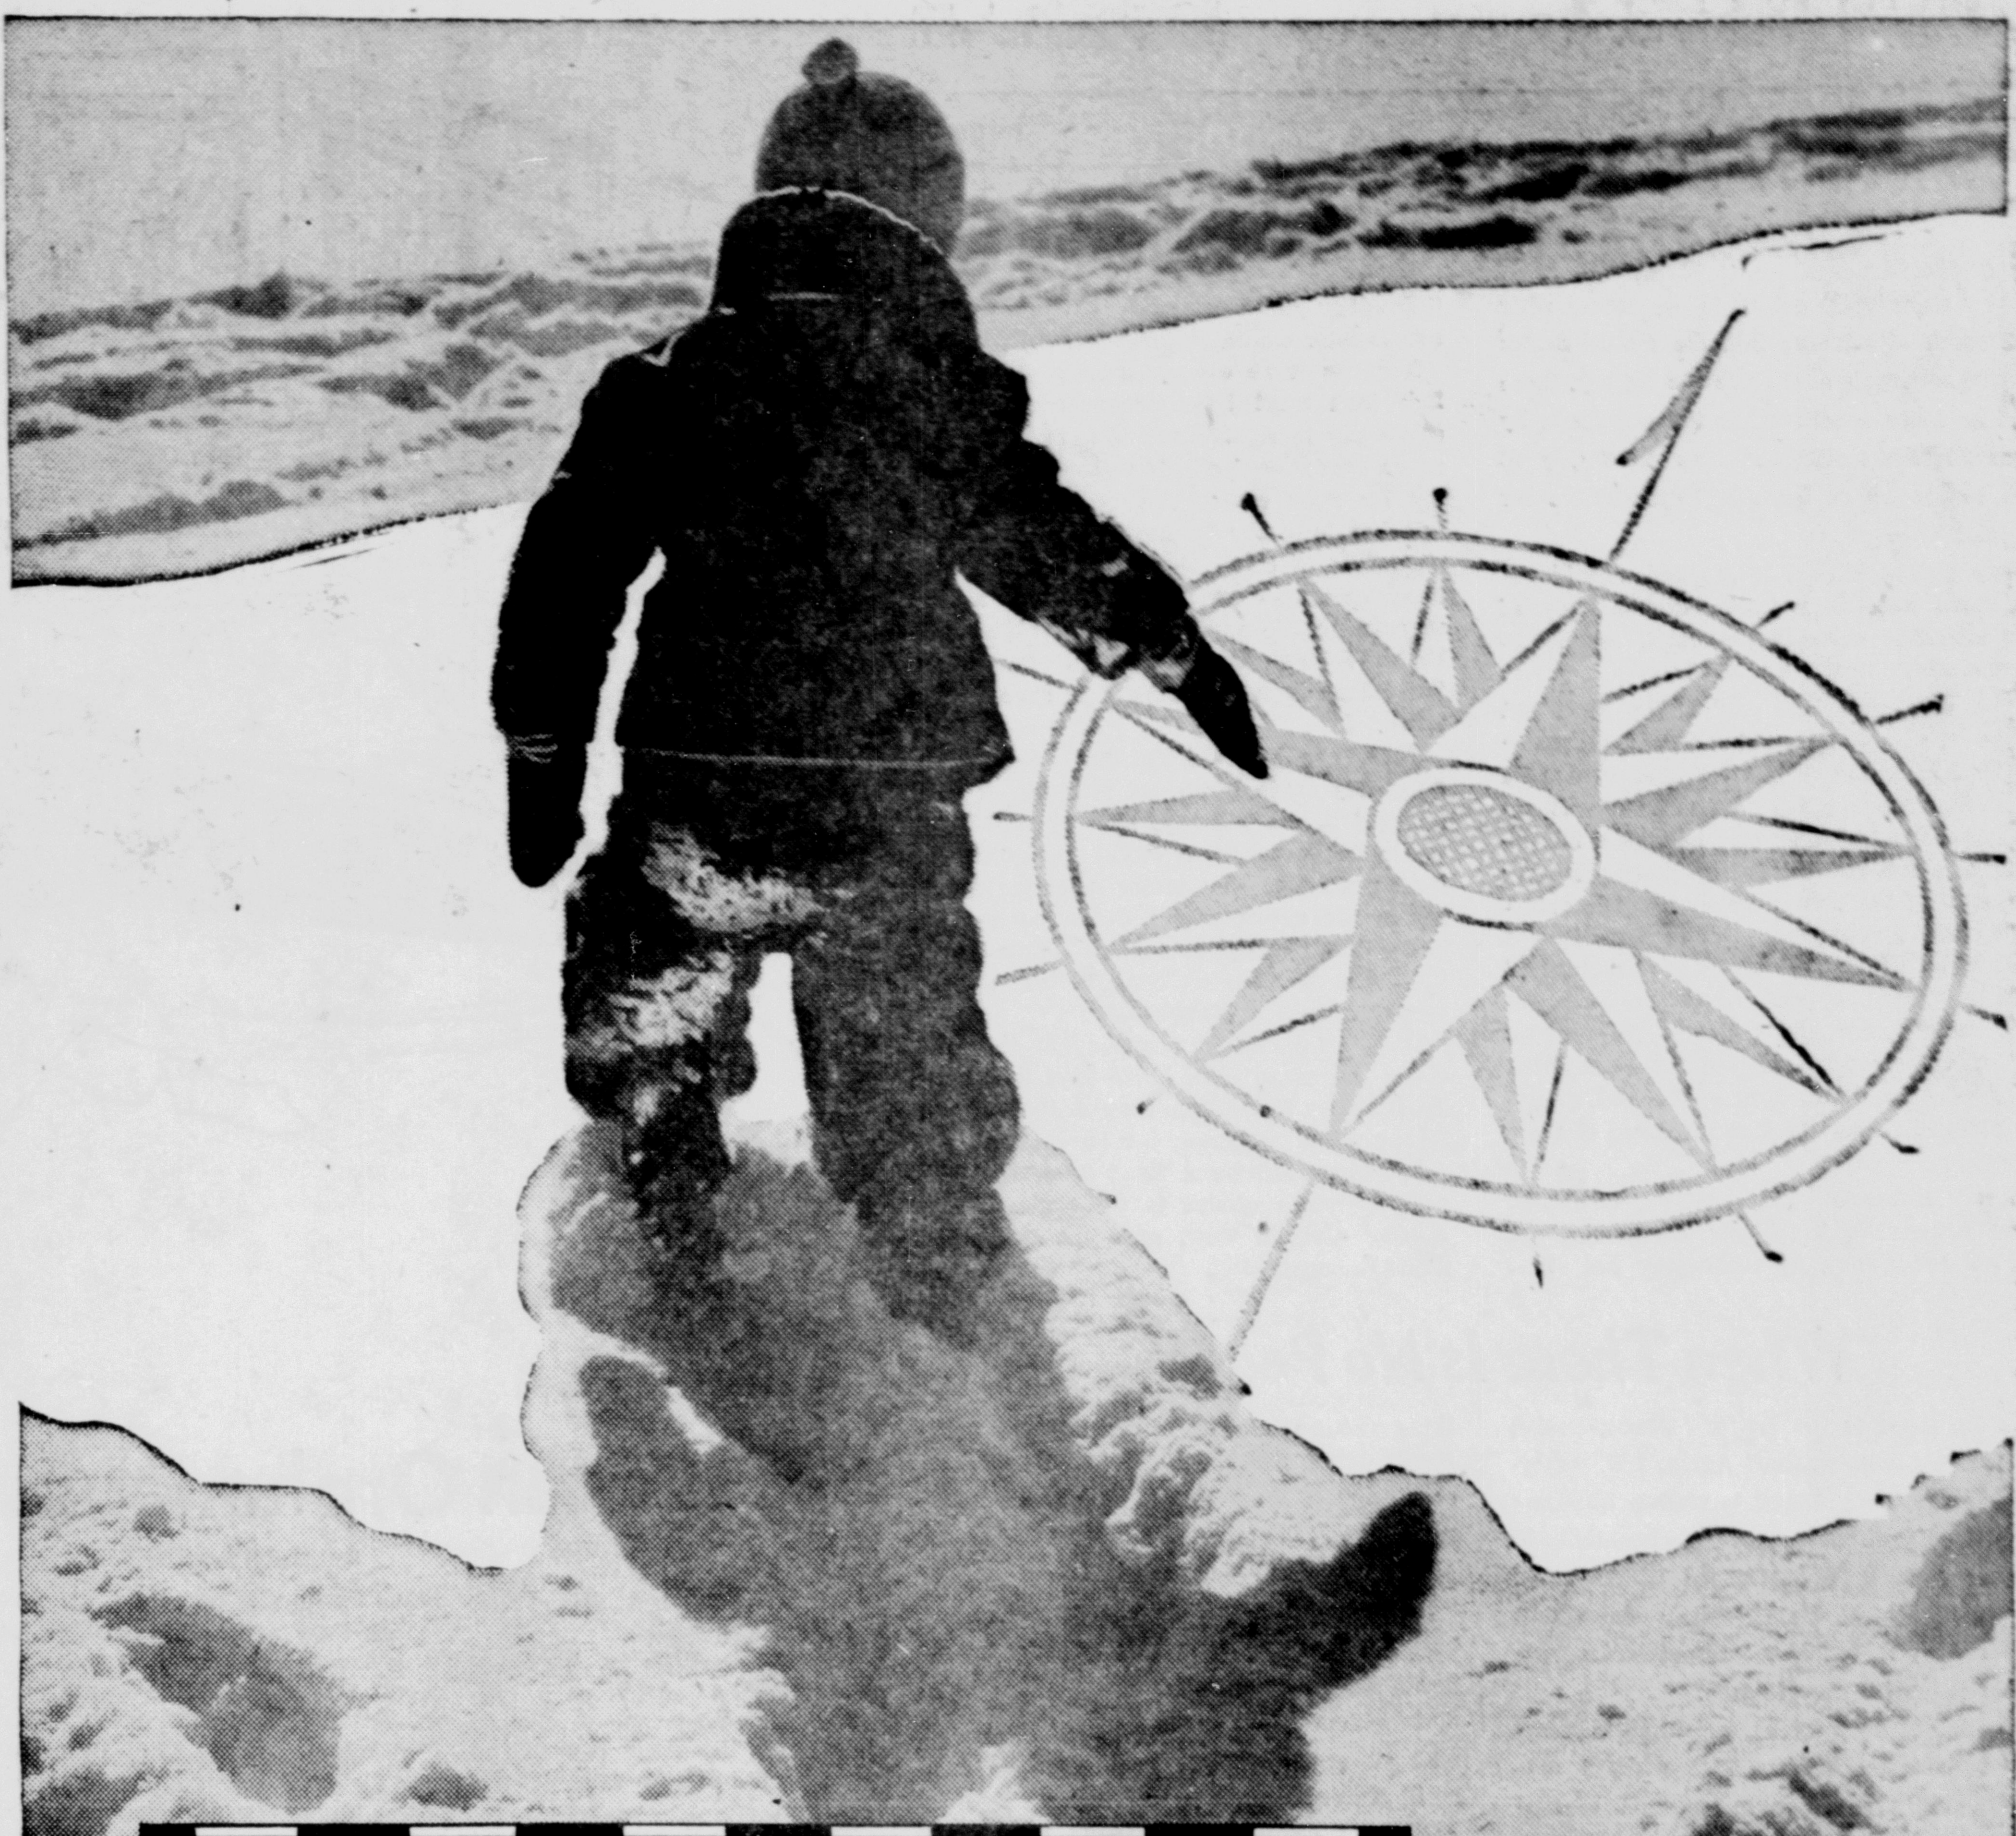

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Police Lt. Ed Swan said a 40-year-old housewife killed herself with a .32 pistol Friday night after a domestic quarrel over her purchase of a $70 Bible.

Swan said Mrs. James North left her husband and 2-year-old daughter in the middle of dinner, walked into the bedroom and shot herself in the heart.

North told police the quarrel started when he arrived home from his bookkeeping job and saw the Bible. He said he and his wife had previously agreed not to spend money on what he called extras.

THE QUEST FOR NEW TRAILS

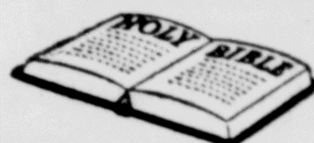

The history of man is a story of progress. Each of its thousands of volumes could bear one common title: The Quest for New Trails.

Even in childhood we display this strange genius which has brought us from primeval forests to this atomic age. We love to penetrate the untouched spaces . . . to open trails where none have ever been.

But this quest could destroy us more rapidly than it has profited us. History recounts the fall of many a civilization too busy with its search for new trails to understand its deeper needs.

For man can truly progress only when his spiritual growth keeps pace with his cultural and scientific advancement.

Or, bluntly, the future of this young Arctic explorer and of his world depends on the Church. The truths of God are unchanging—and ever more essential—as we seek new trails into the Unknown.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Chicken Little vs. The Eagle

As we gradually return to our senses after the shock of learning that the United States has no monopoly over scientific inquiry, there will be more speeches like the one made by Vice President Nixon in New York City at the dedication of the new headquarters for B'nai B'rith.

The United States, he warned, should not let itself become a "pale, carbon copy of the scientific materialism which the Soviet Union offers to the world."

The vice president said: "We must not make the mistake of failing to recognize that education in the United States must be education which is not devoted simply to aping what the Soviet Union has done, but education which recognizes that there are other areas — of the human spirit and the arts — which are as important as the development of our scientific and technical capability."

Hitler's Germany went overboard for scientific materialism and came to grief under the mesmeric spell of technological goons with little knowledge, no ethics and a psychopathic fixation about the menace of Communism.

Surely it cannot long remain concealed from Americans that their nation has not been made strong by technology but that technology has been made strong by devotion to their ethics, cultures and philosophies. Nor can it be concealed from Americans that they must have done something momentarily farsighted and wise in their long-range educational efforts to make this country the most envied society on earth.

It has been the Russians who have been struggling to catch up to the United States in education — and they still have a long way to go. To say thoughtlessly that the United States now must try to catch up to the Russians is to propose a race in reverse.

There can be no doubt that scientific inquiry has made important progress in Russia. But it is a little too soon to forget that under the despotism of Stalin a scientific inquirer could be shot in the head for inquiring in the wrong places. It is too soon to forget that under a political dictatorship there can be no such thing as free inquiry in any branch of knowledge.

There is a strange tendency in the land of the American eagle these days to behave like Chicken Little, who thought the sky was falling when an acorn hit her head.

But there also is a fixed tendency in a country whose symbol is the eagle to take a long-range view, once the acorn has made its impression.

'When There Is No Peace'

Again, there is the cry of "Peace, peace, when there is no peace." Again, U.S. policy-makers are being forced to walk a tightrope of international opinion on the advisability of holding a summit conference which would give credence to the Kremlin's claim that it is willing to consider international agreements to quiet fears of war.

The difference between the summit-conference idea today and the idea when it materialized in Geneva in midsummer of 1955 is the disillusionment that followed the Geneva meeting. Nothing of any consequence came out of that meeting.

Although no harm came out of it, either, the net result was to confirm the opinion of skeptics at the time—that nothing could be gained from carrying on peace negotiations with a government holding irreconcilable views.

President Eisenhower, for example, said he had profited from his Geneva conversations with his old friend Marshal Zhukov, who explained the Soviet Union's new "committee system" of government. But two years after Geneva, Zhukov has been shuffled into the discard in Russia because he, himself, ran into the irreconcilable views of the Communist party's leaders.

One thing the 1955 conference did do that the United States was aware of as a probable result was to increase the Soviet Union's international stature by putting it on display in a world showcase.

That could not be helped; it confirmed a fact that all governments had known to be true anyway. But in the new maneuvering to bring about a summit conference, the probability arises that the Soviet Union would be on display as the possessor of a rocket technology that has put it temporarily into a position of dictating terms.

In behalf of its international friends, the United States has nothing to gain by entering negotiations whose failure would only deepen their allies' misgivings at a critical moment in the modern version of old-fashioned power-balancing.

This is the diplomatic tightrope the policy-makers must walk. It explains what they are doing—why Secretary of State Dulles and other U.S. spokesmen are stressing U.S. strength and the willingness to use it if America's friends are put under Russian pressure.

It also explains what the Kremlin is doing. It thinks it has something to gain by side-tracking the United Nations disarmament negotiations and negotiating, instead, at the "summit." By the same token, it also believes the United States has something to lose, or it would not be pressing the point.

Sermons on the radio on Sunday morning are doubly nice 'cause you can listen with your shoes off.

Once Over

The betting is 0 to 1 against the current flamboyant New York crusade against hoodlums rings getting beyond first base, and 50 to 1 that if it gets that far it will be caught trying to make second.

There are so many committees, boards and bodies at bat against the hoods that they block the base paths. The hoods have no special committee or boards on their side and they operate on one brief report: It will all blow over.

Nothing much of permanent value will happen beyond the following:

1. An underworld decision to cut all outdoor barbecues and return to the old-fashioned custom of eating indoors at lavish banquets.

2. An order to all goons, bound for meetings anywhere, not to drive their sedans so closely together that it attracts police.

A definite coolness by gangsters toward bagged-charcoal, briquets and all outdoor barbecue paraphernalia.

EVEN THE CURRENT campaign was due not so much to alertness by the governor, the mayor, the law enforcement chiefs and police, as from the charcoal broil. If the boys had stuck to kitchen-cooked food there would have been no immediate trouble.

Their mistake was in yielding to the urge to dine on a leafy lawn, throw paper napkins on the grass and see the flash of a bluebird against the hills.

Only some 60 racket chiefs were involved. There are more than that number to be found in one group in midtown New York at any fight night or major ball game. But in the city they don't assemble through a parade.

The lads are fairly safe until they gather in the hills for a barbecue steak, garlic bread and a baked potato.

Albany had a complete report on some of the gangster activities over a year ago but nothing happened until "Make mine medium rare, with a little onion," was heard with a mountain echo.

Basic tragedy in one of Broadway's new dramas is that a child has six fingers on one hand. Why should a home be broken up by this?

What U.S. needs is guided diplomats. Frankie Sinatra's failure to get top ratings on latest video show is due to 'I'm too good for this sort of thing' attitude. The fans don't go for a performer who is getting fabulous dough for giving as little as he dares. He is in a class by himself and can leap to highest ratings if he performs as if it meant anything but peanuts to him.

NO SPORT in American history has been permitted to get away with murder the way current TV pro-wrestling has. Fines, coupled with suspension threats, don't begin to fit the situation.

The bouts are admittedly faked, with foul play, dirty work and contempt for all rules of decent sportsmanship made routine stuff. Amazing thing is that it appeals to public. Even a rumor of fakery keeps fans from baseball. A faked fight raises the roof. But these bogus wrestling shows making an ugly travesty of the sport, pack 'em in, with women and teen-age gals cheering for mayhem.

Commissioner Helfand says, "If state wrestling rules are not obeyed, we may have to take steps endangering the sport's future." What rules?

American Orphanages Vanishing

By JERRY BENNETT

The orphanage is vanishing from the American scene.

National prosperity combined with startling advances in the fields of medicine and psychology have made the lonely secluded institutions obsolete for raising homeless children.

The encouraging result is that dozens of these enormous buildings are closing their doors each year.

This bright outlook for underprivileged youth is revealed by child care experts of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

They explain that today's trend is toward small clinical type buildings which specialize in caring for emotionally disturbed children, homeless adolescents and juvenile delinquents. Instead of trying to raise these youngsters, their job is to help them learn how to lead a happy life with their own families or in a carefully selected foster home.

SOCIAL WORKERS proudly point to the last census statistics which show a dramatic decline in the number of youths in institutions for neglected or dependent children.

In 1933 there were 144,000 boys and girls receiving institutional care. But in 1950 the number had plunged to 95,000. Child care experts believe the next census will show a continued decrease.

One of the principal reasons for this steady reduction is that there are fewer orphans today than ever before, social workers report.

Modern surgery techniques have amazingly lowered the number of mothers who die during child birth. And new drugs have stopped epidemics of once fatal diseases. Because of these medical advances plus a multitude of others, the chances of a child losing both his parents are slim.

ALSO, EXTENSIVE research has shown child care workers that the old style regimented orphanages are harmful to a youngster's psychological make-up.

That's why welfare agencies throughout the country are placing as many orphans or neglected children as possible in foster homes. Their emphasis on a child's need to grow up in a family setting has had amazing results.

Latest U.S. Children's Bureau figures show that 105,000 children were being raised in foster homes in 1933. But in 1954, the number had jumped to 175,000, and bureau officials estimate that during the last three years the number has spiraled higher.

Prosperous economic conditions throughout past years have played a big part in this, boom in foster home care. CB experts explain that more families now can afford to care for a needy child than in the past.

THEY EXPLAIN that the number of children being adopted also has moved upward. A favorable change in public attitude is credited for this increase.

In some areas of the country people used to frown upon adoption by a non relative. But in recent years it has become completely acceptable if not fashionable, social workers report.

The only disheartening aspect to social workers about their success in promoting foster home care is that many of the children involved actually have parents. Unfortunately these adults are unable to raise them because of financial reasons or disruptive personal problems.

Martin Gula, CB official and one of the country's outstanding authorities on child care declares:

"We are convinced that the best place for a child is to grow up in his own family if possible."

But progress is being made in overcoming this problem. Social welfare agencies are striving to help troubled parents solve their personal problems so that they can properly raise their children.

Also more low income parents now can keep their youngsters because of the rise in the number of day care programs. Mothers who have to hold down a job can leave their children at these agencies during the day and pick them up again after work.

Vice-President Well Equipped to Fill Ike's Shoes

The spotlight is again on Vice President Nixon. The popular conception has been developed that, if the president is temporarily indisposed, the second man takes over.

Actually, nothing of the kind occurs. The vice president can assist the cabinet officers and the heads of agencies in interpreting what is believed to be the president's wishes. But he has not the slightest bit more authority than when the president is on active duty and in good health.

Congress as struggled with the dilemma—how to permit lawful delegation of power to a vice president and yet turn that same power back to a president when he recovers. It's the constitutionality of the action taken during an illness which is in question.

There has been talk about the fact that Mr. Eisenhower has said he would resign if he found himself incapacitated. The decision, of course, must be his. The President recommended some time ago that the vice president and the cabinet should be given constitutional power to determine whether a chief executive can or cannot carry on his duties.

CONGRESS pigeonholed the proposal, largely because it doesn't really solve anything. Supposing a president disagrees that he is disabled—then what? Many a sick man insists he is well enough to carry on his duties.

When President Woodrow Wilson was ill, having suffered a paralytic stroke, Secretary of State Lansing called Cabinet meetings and there was discussion about a plan to have the vice president take over but Thomas R. Marshall, the vice president, would have none of it.

When Mr. Wilson subsequently learned about all this, he was angry, and it is believed that the forced resignation of Mr. Lansing later on was in part at least caused by this episode.

Basically, there is only one logical answer—though not yet recognized by the American people.

It is that the people's elected body—the Congress—should always choose the chief executive, as is done in parliamentary countries. The majority party in Congress would retain possession of the presidency as long as the people will it, as is the case with a prime minister in Canada, Great Britain, Australia and other countries in the free world.

Incidentally, the speaker of the House of Representatives, Sam Rayburn, Democrat, is in line under present law to become president after Vice President Nixon.

UNLESS A PRESIDENT, with his Cabinet, is responsible directly to the people through Congress, there will always be doubt as to how to deal with the case of a chief executive who becomes ill and is unable to decide for himself whether or not to resign.

The situation today is that the doctors all say Mr. Eisenhower has merely suffered a temporary disability and that it does not affect his mental ability or his reasoning powers.

Mr. Eisenhower may ponder what his duty is under the circumstances. He cannot look into the future and determine whether he will be sick again. He cannot assume that maybe he might be further incapacitated and hence should resign.

He has a deep obligation to the electorate.

He was elected for four years, and the people do not expect that a president will never be ill or out of commission for a brief period of time. They knew all the possibilities when they re-elected Mr. Eisenhower. After all, the people elect human beings and not supermen immune to the illnesses of contemporary life.

What is really important is whether permanent incapacity—not temporary illness—is involved.

Mr. Eisenhower is a conscientious man. If he really feels he cannot go on, he will be the first to say so. But there hasn't been any evidence that such a critical decision is before him, through the newspapers have naturally been filled with speculation in that direction.

Fortunately, Mr. Eisenhower has taken every precaution to train a possible successor. He has brought Vice President Nixon into his most intimate councils.

THIS HAS afforded Mr. Nixon a chance to show his abilities and the word from those who have attended presidential conferences and Cabinet meetings in the last five years is that the vice president has a keen perception, good judgment, and an unswerving loyalty to the Eisenhower policies.

He has been reported recently by former critics as having "grown in stature." But the truth is the press in Washington has gotten to know his real ability and he, on his part, has exhibited a commendable forthrightness in international policy, especially through his trips abroad. This has removed all suspicion of any alleged "isolationist" feelings or provincialism.

Mr. Nixon, moreover, has the faculty of understanding politics, which is a big advantage. For it enables him to sense popular currents and to understand underlying pressures in the nation. He is well equipped to help the President during his present illness and well equipped to take over if the situation should be such as to require actual succession.

New Uncertainties

ahead will be continued heavy consumer buying.

Economists specializing in retail trade doubt that there will be any effect on the Christmas trade just starting and meaning so much to stores whose year's profit record can be made or broken by it. They also see little reason for the economy in general to be affected — if the public's confidence in the economy isn't shaken.

But business is concerned over the new uncertainties in Washington. They note that the illness comes in the midst of another of the ever recurring international crises, which it had been hoped the President's scheduled visit to Paris would alleviate.

Business too has a stake in the budget and taxation discussions which reach a peak in December and in the legislative proposals that are drafted then. Industry wonders now what effect the illness may have on these.

In general hope is expressed that the President will recover quickly, and his assistants will carry out the international, budgetary and legislative programs without a bobble.

It is widely expected that defense spending will rise, aiding a number of industries by the middle of the year and helping to keep the adjustment rolling without too much economic pain.

Washington has predicted that unemployment this winter may rise above the four million mark. Employment now is around 66 million.

As a percentage of the total labor force four million unemployed wouldn't be considered alarming.

A SALEM NEWS WANT AD

Talks Business To Everybody

... and Is Heard

If it's a salesman you want, you'll look far before you'll find a better one than a News Want Ad.

Small as it is, it packs a mighty wallop, and gets in places where a two-legged salesman can't get the tip of his toe. There are no barriers a Want Ad can't hurdle. It encounters no sales resistance because it's paid for by the advertiser and sought by the reader who buys The News to know what's for sale and who has it for sale. It's Wanted!

A News Want Ad is a tireless worker for anyone willing to hire its services.

It is a guide to business opportunities, often a promoter of an enterprise. It sells real estate, unused commodities and has a voice in thousands of transactions like no other medium of advertising.

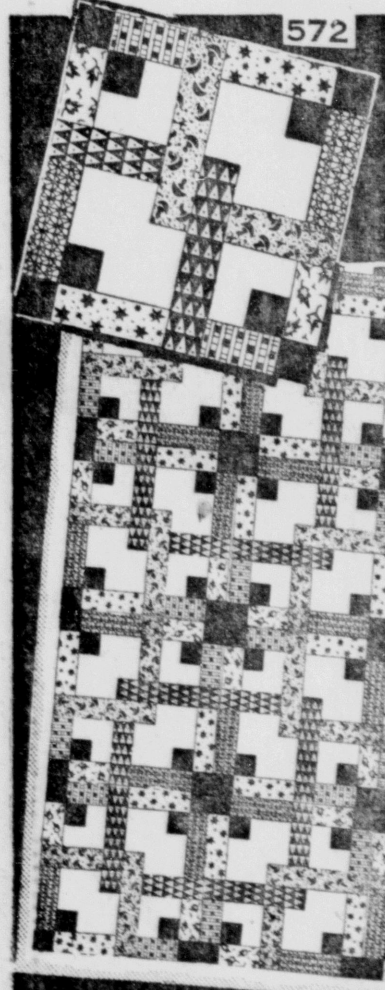

It talks business to everybody, and is heard. For the price you pay, a News Want Ad is a force in selling you cannot afford to ignore. Better than 82,000 individual ads have been published in The News during the past twelve months and 82,000 of anything is worth consideration.

So, for things you want to buy, sell or rent—or for any other need — read and use News Want Ads.

insist that independence is the only basis for change.

The first bill provides a federal system of partial home rule for Algeria once peace is restored. Algeria would remain in the French republic and Paris would handle its foreign policy, defense, currency and some other matters.

The second bill provides for elections on an equal basis for the approximately 1,200,000 Algerians of European origin and about nine million Arabic-speaking residents. But reservations ensure adequate representation of the French minority.

A source in the Algerian Front of National Liberation said his group, the leading rebel organization, had rejected the plans because France was trying to impose its own solution. The source, at U.N. headquarters in New York charged Paris with not taking into account the position of the people they are fighting against.

In debate before the votes, Gailard said, "The basic policies of France cannot be changed." He said France would not negotiate with FLN as recommended Nov. 21 by King Mohammed V of Morocco and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia.

FRANCE Proceeding With Nuclear Plans Despite Objections

LONDON (AP)—France is reportedly moving ahead with a nuclear weapons program despite U.S.-British arguments that French resources could be better used on other things.

Informed sources said today French Premier Felix Gaillard told Prime Minister Macmillan last Tuesday that France is determined to follow through on her ambitions to become the world's fourth nuclear power.

The subject was said to have come up during a discussion of plans for the mid-December conference of NATO government leaders in Paris. Informants said Macmillan still hopes the United States will be able to persuade the French to concentrate on other defense needs.

Sources described the positions of the three Western powers this way:

France wants to develop nuclear bombs partly for prestige. This resolve apparently was strengthened by the recent U.S.-British decision to send arms to Tunisia over strong French objections.

The United States and Britain, worried about the strained French economy and the costs of French efforts to quell the Algerian rebellion, believe Paris should avoid the heavy costs of nuclear development. Washington and London also believe that an international disarmament agreement will become more difficult as more powers begin to make nuclear weapons.

U.S. and British leaders have not expressed these views publicly.

French officials reportedly have been dropping broad hints that France may be ready to test an atomic bomb by the end of 1958, probably in the Sahara Desert.

of the districts because the law says they must set up the districts as equally as possible under existing condition and not for convenience.

Attorney Al Fitch, of Salem, son of one of the judges, spoke both for Salem, which was unopposed as the northwestern site, and for Lisbon in the central southern district.

Attorney William Lodge of Columbiana, and Atty. Frank Springer of East Palestine asked that their towns be designated as court sites. Keith Sevy, RD 2, East Liverpool requests that a court be located in Calcutta.

Attorneys William Bush and Delmar O'Hara represented Wellsville and Salineville, including Washington township.

The requirements mentioned by Judge Sharp for location of the courts are: a restaurant, banking facilities, and parking and jail facilities.

A breakdown of the three districts, sites of the courts and the judges who will preside follows:

Northwestern — Salem — Knox, Butler, Perry, and Salem Townships and the city of Salem; population of 24,611; Judge John C. Fitch will preside.

Eastern — East Palestine — Fairfield, Unity, Elkrun, Middleton, Madison, and St. Clair Townships; population of 23,834; Luther Donbar is the judge.

Central and Southern — Lisbon — West Hanover, Center, Franklin, Wayne, Washington, Yellow Creek and Wellsville Townships and the city of Wellsville; population of 22,591; Samuel Crawford will preside.

Thirty-two persons attended Friday's meeting.

The judges will serve for one year, and election of new judges for four-year terms will be held in November.

Alliance Man Receives Fine, Suspended Term

A 44-year-old Alliance man was fined $45 and given a suspended 30-day jail sentence at a hearing before Dean B. Cranmer Friday night.

Duane Mylar was charged with intoxication and assault by his ex-wife, Mrs. Virginia Mylar of 188½ W. Wilson St. The charges stemmed from an altercation at Mrs. Mylar's home Thursday night.

The sentence was suspended on condition Mylar stays out of Salem for one year.

Russian Rocket May Make 'Death Plunge' This Weekend

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — This could be the weekend that the rocket of Sputnik I makes its death plunge.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory here hopes to be able to predict the final dive 24 hours in advance.

If it can, there may be a world wide alert, possibly today, to watch for the spectacular finish.

Scientists say the odds are the rocket will fall in the Northern Hemisphere.

The rocket's orbit took it three times over the United States early this morning from southwest to northeast, and thrice more this afternoon, from northwest to southeast.

Sunday morning the rocket makes three southwest to northeast sweeps—assuming its plunge has not yet begun.

The first Sunday passage begins about 6:45 a.m., EST in the Florida area and parallels the East Coast to Maine, passing near New York and Boston.

The next, starting in southwest Texas about 8:13 a.m., EST, crosses the Midwest near Kansas City about 8:16 a.m. and leaves the United States over northern Michigan three minutes later.

On the third passage, the rocket comes in from the Pacific and crosses the California coast midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles at 9:43 a.m., EST, swings over Nevada and Idaho and leaves over central Montana five minutes later.

Smithsonian figures that the rocket is speeding up about a half minute a day as it falls lower into a tighter circle around the earth.

Computations based on observations up to Thursday night indicate it now circles the world in 89.2 minutes.

When this drops to about 87.6 minutes, according to Dr. Fred L. Whipple, Smithsonian director, the rocket may be in such dense atmosphere it will start to glow from the friction of the air. At that point its death is imminent.

Since the rocket in its morning sweeps is at its lowest point—barely more than 100 miles above the earth—Whipple said there is a slightly greater probability it might fall then. The afternoon passages are at 150 miles altitude.

But where it might plunge to earth is a matter of wide-open speculation.

Beaver Creek Club Sets Shoots Sunday

The Beaver Creek Sportsman's Club will hold a turkey shoot beginning at 1 p.m. Sunday at the club.

All area hunters are invited to compete in the shoot and in a trap shoot contest. The club will furnish the shells, according to Wilfred Tunnat, arrangements chairman.

SAILOR PLEADS INNOCENT

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Marine Pfc Owen J. Booth of Scranton, Pa., today pleaded innocent to charges of mistreating sailor prisoners in the U.S. Navy Brig at Sasebo, Japan.

Booth, 22, is accused of hitting two sailor prisoners in the stomach with his fist and choking a third until he passed out.

Booth is one of 16 Marine guards accused of mistreating 20 Sasebo prisoners. Six Marines have been tried by less severe summary courts, which handed down four convictions and two acquittals. One Marine tried by a special court was acquitted.

PROGRAM IS PLANNED

LISBON — A program on candlemaking will be presented at the meeting of the Hanover Township Home Demonstration Group Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Hanover Presbyterian Church, according to Miss Polly Stahl, county home extension agent.

Four Traffic Fines Are Paid At Lisbon

LISBON — Two motorists were fined a total of $45 and costs Friday at hearings before Mayor Wilbur Warren on traffic charges. Two others forfeited bonds when they failed to appear for scheduled hearings.

Herby Chuck Jr., 18, of West Point, was fined $20 and costs for failing to stop within assured clear distance after he was involved in accident.

Sidney Martin of Cardale, Pa., was fined $25 and costs for passing without the assured clear distance ahead.

Robert G. Dawson of East Liverpool forfeited $35 bond when he failed to appear on charge of reckless operation, and William Simmons of Cleveland forfeited $10 bond on a charge of speeding.

East Palestine PTO Programs Scheduled

East Palestine's PTO program this year will feature separate sessions of "open house" at each of the four schools.

This plan of visitation was arranged so that parents with children in more than one building will be able to attend the program in each school.

The schedule is as follows: East North Ave. School, Dec. 11; West North Ave. School, Feb. 12; Captain Taggart, March 12; and High School, April 9.

Each session will begin with "open house" at 7:30 p.m. and will be followed by a business session in the assembly room at 8:30 p.m. Various improvements will be pointed out, and there will be a discussion on further improvements or suggestions for improvement.

Churchill Reminisces On 83rd Birthday

WESTERHAM, England (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill turned 83 today. He sipped Champagne and relished his stirring years as Britain's wartime leader.

With him at his Chartwell home was Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, one of Britain's most celebrated commanders of World War II. Teetotaler Montgomery had tea.

As they chatted, telegraph messengers and mail trucks drew up to the door of the country home and deposited birthday greetings from all over the world. Nobody knew exactly how many there were. A spokesman just said it was a fantastic number.

Tonight Churchill goes to a family dinner party in his honor and a 15-pound iced birthday cake with one candle awaited him.

Last year when the world joined Britain in honoring 82 years of the Churchill saga there were 82 candles on the birthday cake.

Mrs. Maria Florio who has designed Churchill's birthday cake for 20 years said she decided on one candle this time because "I thought it would be a change."

Churchill's home has been fitted with a powerful television aerial so that this evening Sir Winston, with Lord Montgomery beside him, may view a television story of Sir Winston's career. It has been titled Man of the Century.

One of the laded guns was under her side of the mattress but she made no effort to reach it when officers entered the motel room. Mason said she calmly told officers she preferred a .45 caliber automatic and declared "most men are not good shots—they have too much strength in their wrists."

Mason said Eaton is a parole violator, having been released in California last August after having served part of a sentence for burglary.

Navy DC3 Transport Crash-Lands On Fire

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica (AP)—A Navy Super DC3 transport plane carrying Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, scientists and newsmen crash-landed on fire late Friday night after a flight here from McMurdo Sound.

All aboard escaped injury as the plane skidded in on a cushion of snow.

The trouble began when a ski on the starboard side dipped forward as the transport approached for a landing.

As the two-engine plane bounced roughly in the air, Cdr. Vernon Coley of Oakland, Calif., the pilot, and Cdr. Edward Frankiewicz of Rutland, Vt., co-pilot, threw an extra lead on the starboard motor in an effort to restore the balance.

The motor blew three cylinders and caught fire from leading gasoline.

The plane struck soft snow about two feet deep, skidded at a slant across the runway and stopped with the tip of the starboard wing buried in snow and the port wing high in the air.

The crew leaped from the plane to fight the blaze, and a station crash wagon arrived to complete the job.

Others included Lester H. Ackman, Lincoln, Neb., mechanic and this reporter.

Navy 6 Point Favorite Over Army in 58th Football Game

Middies' Defense 2nd Only To Unbeaten, Untied Auburn

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An Army lineman crashed through the Navy defense and dumped a mid-die ball carrier for a huge loss during last year's service classic. Said the Army lad to the Navy lad in a voice filled with meaning: "So, you want to go to a bowl game? Over our dead bodies." The game wound up 7-7 and be-

Cincinnati Turns Back Detroit 99-96

By The Associated Press
The St. Louis Hawks have won seven straight games but they haven't made any headway in pulling away from the Cincinnati Royals in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

The Royals turned back the Detroit Pistons 99-96 in overtime in the only league game Friday night and moved within two games of the pacesetter Hawks. Six straight points by the Pistons' Harry Gallatin tied the score at 87 all at the end of regulation time. But Detroit was unable to keep up the pace as the Royals poured in 12 points in the over-time.

Maurice Stokes and Clyde Lovellette paced the well balanced attack with 20 and 19 points, respectively. However, individual scoring honors went to Detroit's George Yardley with 26 and Gallatin with 23.

Meantime, the Minneapolis Lakers, winners of only two of their 16 starts, took steps to strengthen their attack. They signed 6-6 Ed Kalafat, who quit pro basketball after being traded to Detroit. Last week the Lakers bought Kalafat back from Detroit after he had refused to play for the Pistons.

Michigan Takes Lead In Dinghy Regatta

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan, Brown and Notre Dame breezed into the lead of the dinghy regatta for the Timme Angsten Memorial Trophy Friday at Belmont Harbor.

Michigan piled up 164 points in opening day competition of the three-day meet to take a comfortable lead over defending champion Brown which was second with 147 points.

Notre Dame was third with 126 points followed by Ohio State's 123.

Michigan finished first three times and had three seconds and two thirds. Brown had four firsts, three seconds and one third while Notre Dame won only one of the 15 races and finished second twice.

Other point totals were Wisconsin 117, Wooster 100, Cornell 98, Purdue 98, Wayne 95, Fordham 84, Marquette 79, and Northwestern 66½.

Mal Anderson Wins Tennis Championship

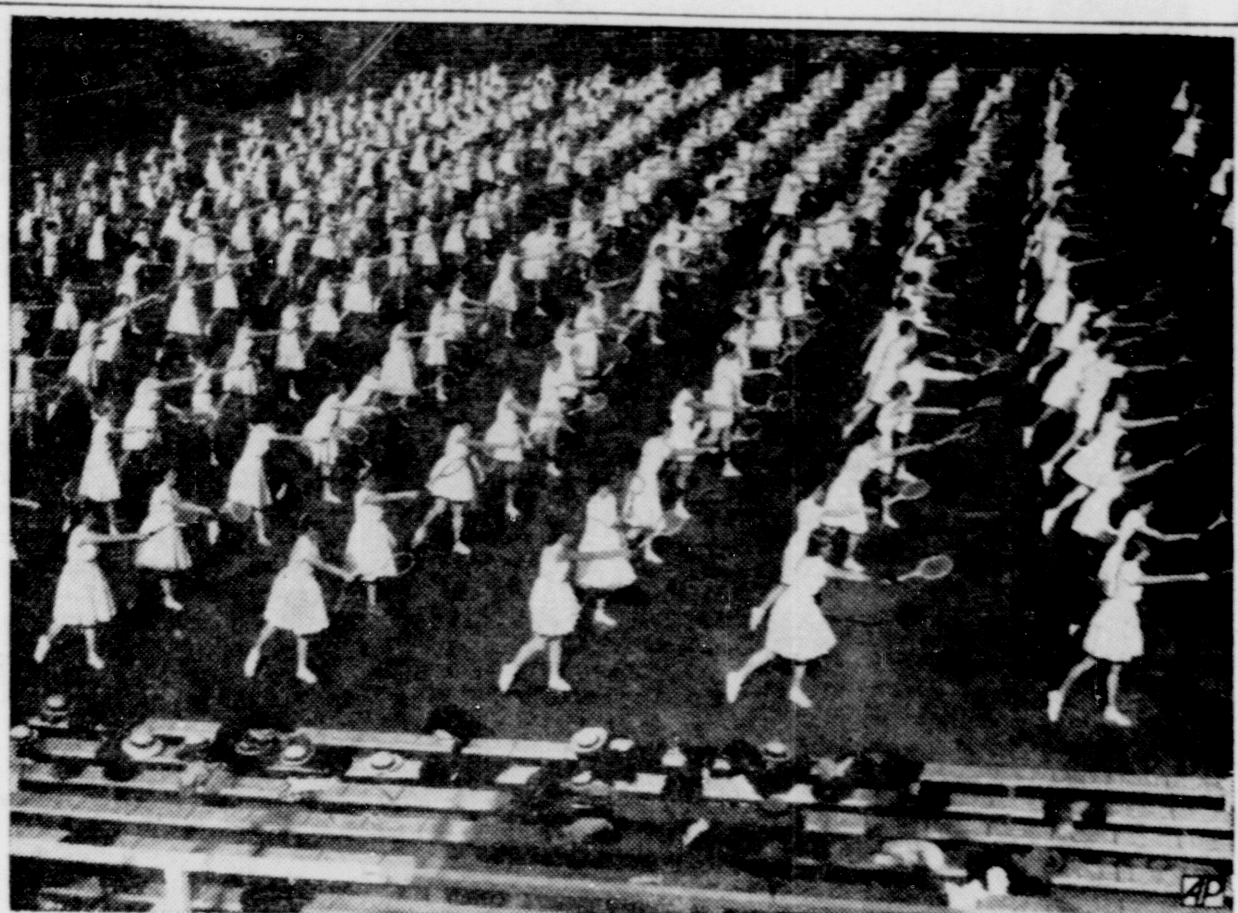

ADELAIDE (AP)—Mal Anderson won the South Australian Tennis championship today by beating veteran Mervyn Rose 7-5, 6-8, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4 in the All-Australian final. Anderson thus virtually assured himself of a berth on the Aussie Davis Cup team for the challenge round.

Earlier Angela Mortimer, Great Britain, had won the women's crown by defeating Lorraine Coghlan, Australia, 6-4, 6-2.

Kentucky to Tangle With Duke In Wildcats' 1st Tilt of Season

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky fans should know the truth about their basketball team by Christmas.

A perennial contender on the national scene, Kentucky could be pretty well out of the picture. A lot depends on a rough December schedule that includes four road games.

Navy is a six point favorite in the nationally televised game (NBC), mostly on fine defense the Middies have shown in winning seven games, losing to North Carolina and tying Duke.

The Navy defense is second in the nation only to unbeaten and untied Auburn. Its offense revolves around the passing of star quarterback Tom Forrestal, the Cleveland lad who has completed 72 of 141 passes for 1,036 yards and 8 touchdowns.

Meanwhile, Army's Bob Anderson, a 200-pound speedster from Cocoa, Fla., has scored 8 points, tops in the nation, and gained 965 yards to break the West Point ground gaining record of the fabulous Glen Davis.

Aided by Pete Dawkins, Royal Oak, Mich., runner; Vince Barta, Lakewood, Ohio, fullback, and Dave Bourland slick quarterback, Army leads the country in rushing and ranks second in total offense.

The question is: Can Navy's air arm, Forrestal, and a great Middle defense topple Army's foot soldiers, Anderson, Dawkins, Barta and Bourland?

Another factor is depth. Army, winner of seven games, has a strong first team. But the Army bench is thin.

Navy has more depth and its bevy of fine runners including Harry Hurst, Ray Weilborn and Ned Oldham, could wear the Cadets down. Army leads in the rivalry, 29 victories to 23 with 5 ties.

Castillo Plays Buchholz In Boys Tennis Tourney

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Second-seeded Francisco Castillo of Hamtramck, Mich., met upset-minded Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis today in the boys singles semifinals of the National Indoor Junior and Boys Tennis Tournament.

Buchholz dumped third-ranked Herb Fitzgibbons of Garden City, N.J., Friday 6-1, 8-10, 6-3. In the other semifinal, first-ranked Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., meets Trigger Templeton of Dallas, Tex., ranked No. 4.

BUYS 'EXPENSIVE' TIRES

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Charles P. Gleb, a retired grocer, happily re-claimed $900 he overpaid for four tires. Gleb, 64, of Dittmer, Mo., bought the tires for $182. He thought the money he handed store owner John Noel included a $100 bill. It was a $1,000 bill.

Manila—Leo Espinosa, 123, Manila, outpointed Jet Bally, 125½, Manila, 12. (Espinosa retained Philippines featherweight title).

Hunter To Start For Western Reserve

Rich Hunter, former Salem High School basketball scoring ace, will be in the starting lineup for Western Reserve University Monday night when the Red Cats open their 1957-58 cage season at home against Bethany College, W. Va.

Hunter, a sophomore, is one of four second year men that Coach Harry Adams plans to use on his starting five. The four youths are known as the "Chlorophyll Kids."

Reserve will play at home again Dec. 7 against DePaul University.

Hunter holds the all-time Salem scoring mark for most points scored in one season. He dropped in 401 points during his senior year two campaigns ago. He averaged 22.3 markers in the process, hitting on 42 per cent of his field goal attempts.

Hunter is five feet, 10 inches tall.

Perez Favored to Win Over Spain's Martin

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Small but strong Pascual Perez ruled a big favorite to successfully defend his World's Flyweight title against Spain's Young Martin tonight.

The 15-round bout may draw over 80,000 into the outdoor soccer stadium. Fight fans will have to struggle through 11 preliminary bouts before seeing the main event which may not go on until close to midnight.

STURDY BOWLER — Dennis Dunham, 22, of Grant's Pass, Ore., is shown after he broke the world's endurance record of 287 games set by Tom Baird of Middleton, Ohio, recently. Dunham completed 324 consecutive games, knocking down 49,491 pins for an average of 152 pins per game at the end of 48 hours of bowling Nov. 17 in Grant's.

Rice Expected to Take On Navy In Cotton Bowl Game

By The Associated Press
Two short weeks ago, Texas AM was the talk and toast of the Southwest Conference—an undefeated, untied powerhouse that was ready to play host in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day.

But the two weeks have been like two years for the weary Aggies. First, they were licked by Rice. Then, on Thanksgiving Day, they fell before Texas and right out of consideration for the Cotton Bowl berth.

Now, the talk is all Rice and Texas, and the Cotton Bowl big-wigs will have their problem solved after today's games.

Depending on the outcome of the games, the teams that will appear in the Jan. 1 game are an open secret—Rice vs. Navy.

All Rice had to do was get past Baylor.

There's a possibility that the deflated Aggies will get to the Sugar Bowl to oppose Mississippi or Mississippi State, whichever wins today's important game.

In Philadelphia, where Army and Navy met in the big intra-service game, there was more than tradition involved.

This one was for the mythical eastern championship. Further, Navy's bowl hopes hinged on the outcome. The Middies want to play in a bowl game but only if they beat Army. If they do make it, they head for the Cotton Bowl.

If Army wins, they head back for Annapolis.

Auburn, the No. 1 team in the country in the Associated Press poll, will be trying to cement its first national championship.

A couple of other games could lead to selection of teams for the Gator Bowl, Tennessee and Vanderbilt, two more of those tough Southwestern Conference outfits, went at it with the winner a distinct possibility. A good performance by Georgia Tech against Georgia also could earn the Engineers a bid.

This is the last big Saturday of the season and other major games spotted around the country included:

EAST — Boston College-Holy Cross.

MIDWEST — Notre Dame-Southern California, Wichita-Tulsa.

SOUTH — Tulane-Louisiana State, Florida - Miami, Virginia-North Carolina, Clemson-Furman.

Wake Forest-South Carolina.

SOUTHWEST — Southern Methodist-Texas Christian.

FAR WEST — Air Force Academy-Colorado State Univ., New Mexico-Brigham Young.

Willie Vaughn Defeats Jones

Victor Rallies in Last Half of 10-Rounder

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Vaughn and Ralph (Tiger) Jones, usually the hard luck guys of the middle-weight division, each had something to be happy about today after their hard fought scrap in Madison Square Garden.

Willie finally had a Garden decision—and a unanimous one at that—to his credit and a promise of another International Boxing Club main event soon. The Tiger keeps his date with contender Joey Giardello for Miami Beach, Dec. 27.

Vaughn, of Los Angeles, staged a rousing rally in the last half of the telecast Garden fight Friday night to earn the nod from the three officials. The scores were: Referee Teddy Martin, 7-3; Judge Frank Forbes, 5-3-2, and Judge Bert Grant, 6-4. The AP card had willing Willie ahead, 6-3-1.

Vaughn, fresh from a close loss to formidable Spider Webb in the same Arena Nov. 1, flashed the same finishing burst against Jones that he had uncorked against Webb. Jones, idle three months and heavy at 160 pounds (Vaughn weighed 161), slowed up noticeably after the fourth round.

From the fifth on Willie outpaced and outpunched the Tiger and staggered him in the sizzling eighth with three rights to the jaw.

I guess you'd have to blame inactivity," said Jones. "For four rounds I felt real good. I thought I was fighting better than I ever did. I'll be able to go full steam against Giardello. That's going to be a lot different."

"He keeps that fight with Giardello," said IBC matchmaker Billy Brown in Jones' dressing room.

"It sure feels real good to get the win here," said Vaughn. "Especially after that loss to Spider Webb. I thought I won that. Maybe I'm on my way at last."

Expenditures For 2 Years Shown In Columbiana Audit

COLUMBIANA — A two-year audit report of the village of Columbiana was released today by State Auditor James A. Rhodes. The report showed receipts of $723,575.31 and expenses of $724,126.27.

The village had a balance of $471,359.49 at the start of the audit. Money on hand at the conclusion of the audit period on June 30 amounted to $503,412.37, according to the report.

Two-year collections listed included: Parking meters, $12,136.18; park fund, $29,408.08; water fund, $91,041.33.

Examinations are conducted periodically by the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices.

COLUMBIANA HIGH School Band has bought a French horn for $325, and has ordered a director's uniform for Thomas Haban, new instructor in instrumental music for the Columbiana schools. Also on order are three uniform coats and a bassoon.

The band realized about $400 with its tag day and house-to-house solicitation the first of the month. Last year the band was ranked among the 100 best school bands in the U.S. and some of its members were listed in the publication, "First Chairs of America."

Each of the four dens demonstrated projects of rope tying, scrap books and woodwork in exemplification of the theme, "Hobbies," awards were made for October and November. The meeting closed early to permit attendance at the community Thanksgiving service in Grace United Church of Christ.

A pow wow meeting of past and present den mothers and parents is scheduled for Buckeye School in Salem from 2 to 6 and 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

Panora Lodge of Odd Fellows will have election of officers next Tuesday evening. About 75 attended the meeting last Tuesday evening.

INTERCHURCH CENTER — America's first national headquarters building for many of its churches will be a reality by 1960. Architect's presentation above shows how the new 20-million-dollar Interchurch Center will look upon its completion. The block-long, 19-story building is being erected in upper Manhattan in New York, on a site made available by John D. Rockefeller Jr., next door to famed Riverside Church overlooking the Hudson River. The structure will house the National Council of Churches and a score of other church and interchurch agencies. The building will also have underground parking for 130 cars, and a pedestrian tunnel will provide access to Riverside Church.

when visiting lodges from Youngstown, Struthers and Canfield brought candidates, and Panora Lodge exemplified the first degree for the four lodges.

Gigli, Star Tenor, Dies Of Pneumonia

ROME — Beniamino Gigli, the Italian singer who succeeded Enrico Caruso as the star tenor of New York's Metropolitan Opera, died at his home today of pneumonia. He was 67.

His doctor said Gigli became ill two days ago. At first it appeared to be a cold, but then a high fever developed suddenly. Gigli kept joking with those at his bedside until a few minutes before death.

Last September he was injured slightly in an automobile accident, and about two years ago he had a heart attack.

Born at Recanati in central Italy, he made his opera debut at Rovigo, Italy, in 1915 in the part of Enzo in La Gioconda.

Gigli replaced Caruso at the Met in 1920. He sang with great gusto—as one critic said, "as naturally as a gamecock fights."

He returned to New York in 1955 after a 16-year absence, singing three Manhattan faraway recitals.

Allied authorities once forbade Gigli to sing at a concert immediately after World War II on grounds that he had had Fascist connections. The tenor admitted that he sang for the Italian Fascists and for the Germans, but he attributed the criticism of him to "the jealousy of mean people."

Faulty Signal Lights Delay Plane's Landing

HOUSTON, Tex. — A Braniff airliner carrying 24 passengers circled Houston International Airport for about 30 minutes Friday night until it was certain the landing gear was working.

Pitt George Tesker said three lights supposed to signal the gear was down did not flash on. Searchlights were trained on the plane from the airport control tower as he flew low, and word then was radioed it was safe to land.

The flight, No. 51, originated Chicago.

Minor Earthquake Rattles Portland Area

PORTLAND, Ore. — A mild earthquake of about one-minute duration rattled the Portland area and southwestern Washington at 8:46 p.m. Friday.

Bill Geitz, who operates a seismograph in the basement of a Portland Hotel, recorded the minor quake.

Police and newspapers received several calls reporting "floors trembling and houses creaking."

CYCLIST KILLED BY TRAIN

CLEVELAND — Edward J. Gilbert, 13, of Rocky River waited until an eastbound freight train passed a crossing in the Cleveland suburb, then started across on his bicycle.

Police said the boy was struck by a westbound freight at the Nickel Plate crossing. He died 2½ hours later in Fairview Hospital. There are flasher lights but no gates at the crossing.

New Hampshire's White Mountains include 86 peaks more than 3,000 feet high, concentrated in a small area close to the 6,288-foot summit of Mount Washington, the highest mountain in the northeast.

Youth of U.S. Gathering For 4-H Congress

CHICAGO — The nation's biggest, most select teen-age party — a five-day affair—drew some 1,300 buoyant, effusive youngsters to Chicago today.

Officially, it didn't get under way until Sunday—the 36th National 4-H Club Congress.

But hundreds of boys and girls, generally in the 14-to-20 age group were already on hand—many of them for a peek at the International Live Stock Exposition before their own round of assemblies, luncheons, dinners, dances, and sight-seeing tours begins.

The 4-H'ers have earned their fun-as state and national winners in competitions among some two million youthful rural dwellers throughout the nation, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

Some 218 boys and girls will claim college scholarships worth $2,430 as prizes for excellence in their work. These awards, and round-trip travel expenses for most of the visitors, are paid for by business organizations, foundations and individuals who have provided nearly $850,000 to support the event.

Tonight the Chicago Symphony Orchestra plans a pop concert for the youngsters as a pre-congress treat.

The theme of this year's 4-H Club congress is "improving family and community living."

The annual 4-H parade will take place Wednesday night at the Live Stock Exposition in the International Amphitheatre.

This congress marks the first time that an Alaska youth has been named a national winner. F. Leroy Heaven, 18, of Wasilla, is one of seven who will be awarded $400 college scholarships in the 4-H garden program.

Expert Says U.S. Needs Big Educational Budget

CINCINNATI — A leading missile scientist says he thinks a big federal budget for education is needed if the United States aims to get into long-range space problems.

Dr. Simon Ramo, president of the Space Technology Laboratory of Ramo-Woolridge Corp., Los Angeles, said Friday night that more money is also needed for research—plus a willingness to take a flier now and then on an uncertain idea.

Dr. Ramo, whose firm has technical direction over the Air Force ballistic missile program, was here to address a civic group.

He said the United States is in "relatively good shape" in short-range missiles, and that the Air Force has had a crash program working for the past three years.

Ohio Farmer Shows Champion Berkshire

CHICAGO — A 230-pound Berkshire hog shown by Harold Yake & Sons, Cardington, Ohio, won the Reserve championship among 148 animals entered for judging of swine on the hoof at the International Livestock Exposition Friday.

A 105-pound cross-bred lamb entered by Ohio State University won the championship in judging of Wether lamb carcasses on the hoof.

Barbara Lucy Lonas, Navarre, Ohio, exhibited champions of the purebred, grades and crossbreeds of other breeds in the carcass cattle on the hoof division.

1,300 TO GO OFF JOBS — Failure to reach a new contract will keep 1,300 production employees off jobs at the Reliance Electric Engineering Co.'s plants here and in Ashtabula Monday, a union spokesman said.

Gordon Parker, president of International Union of Electrical Workers Local 77 said even if negotiations over the weekend bring a settlement, it would be impossible to have it ratified before Sunday midnight, when the current two-year contract expires.

SIDNEY, Ohio — Earl Miller, 14, Rt. 2, Covington, was killed Friday when his car left a Shelby County road and hit a telephone pole one-half mile southwest of nearby Russia, the Shelby County sheriff's office reported.

Farm Group To Hear Former Utah Governor

J. Bracken Lee, former Utah governor, will explain how the 16th amendment can be repealed without hurting the nation's economy or defense program when he appears before the Independent Farmers of Ohio at a meeting Thursday night at 8 in the Minerva High School.

The 16th amendment authorizes Congress to impose and collect income taxes.

A brief prelude of music will be heard prior to the evening program.

2 Airmen Get Prison Terms In Yokohama

YOKOHAMA Japan — Two young American airmen were convicted in a Japanese court of assault and attempted robbery of a taxi driver and sentenced Friday to 3½ and 4 years in prison.

Newspapers contrasted the penalties — which may be appealed within the next two weeks — to the three-year suspended sentence given Gil William Girard for the firing range killing of a Japanese scrap collector.

The two, both 20 years old, are Airmen 2C. Andrew N. Hartman of Hogsansville, Ga., and Airman 3C. Phillip W. Morris of North Platte, Neb.

Hartman was sentenced to four years in hard labor on the court's finding that he wielded a beer bottle used to injure the taxi driver last May 5. Morris got 3 years for participating in the joint attempt to rob the driver. Maximum possible penalty was 15 years.

The court said both airmen were drunk at the time but not enough to suffer "a total loss of mental activity."

Defense lawyer Frank Scolinos of Tokyo and Los Angeles was expected to appeal.

Man Freed Pending Probe of Shooting

PIQUA, Ohio — Authorities Friday released Homer E. Rial from city jail without bond pending further investigation into the shooting death of Rial's neighbor, Megg Jackson, 2.

Sheriff's deputies said Rial, 46, admitted shooting Jackson Thursday night in the home both occupy on Rt. 2, Piqua. Jackson had shot at his wife Anna, 21, six times with a shotgun but missed. When Mrs. Jackson ran screaming into the Rial apartment, followed by her husband, Rial said he shot Jackson.

Manhunt Fails To Turn Up Fugitive Texan

CINCINNATI — A full-scale police manhunt in downtown Cincinnati has failed to turn up a fugitive Texan who escaped from detective headquarters by nonchalantly walking out a door.

Joseph Tiernon, 24, of Houston, made the unprecedented escape late Friday and lost pursuers in crowds of nighttime shoppers.

Police said Tiernon, who admitted the burglaries here, was awaiting a lie detector test in the office of the detective chief, Henry Sandman.

Sandman was called away briefly and less than a minute later, when another detective came to check on the prisoner, Tiernon had walked past a busy police secretary to a street door and stepped out to freedom.

Tiernon was arrested in a tear gas raid Wednesday and, with Urban Leon Gay, 22, also of Houston, admitted burglaries here. Still in jail are Gay, his wife Natalie, and Tiernon's wife Doris, 26.

Police said Corpus Christi, Tex., police also want to question the two in burglaries there.

Boy, 9, Shot While Mother Goes Shopping

DAYTON, Ohio — When Mrs. Ry Smith went shopping Friday night, she took her son Roy, 11, along and left another son, Norman Louis, 9, to care for baby Charles Ray, 2. The father was asleep.

When Mrs. Smith and Roy returned, they found Norman Louis lying on the kitchen floor with a bullet wound in the head. A .22 caliber revolver belonging to the Smiths lay nearby.

Norman died about midnight in Miami Valley Hospital.

There has been no official ruling, police said. The father, who was not awakened by the accident, was quoted by police as saying the gun fascinated the Smith children and the parents tried to keep it out of reach.

UNEMPLOYMENT TO INCREASE

WASHINGTON — The Columbus, Ohio, area can expect sizable curtailment in employment over the next few months, the Labor Department reported Friday. It said the Lorain-Elyria, Ohio, area experienced an increase in unemployment this month.

Burial Vaults Bring Death To Three Men

PAULDING, Ohio — Burial vaults became death-dealing instruments in a strange accident at a railroad crossing Friday night.

A truck carrying three concrete burial vaults slowed down for the crossing, but a car behind it did not, sheriff's deputies said.

The impact of the car colliding with the rear of the truck sent the burial vaults sliding to the pavement. Fragments of the vaults crashed through the car's windshield, decapitating the driver and crushing his two companions.

The three dead men, all from Lima, Ohio, were identified at Edward Eugene Short, 33, of 731 E. Second St.; the driver; James Oliver King, 42, of 309½ N. Elizabeth St.; and Frank Willard Keller, 37, of 122 Euclid St.

The accident happened on U.S. 127, three miles south of here.

The truck driver, William F. Meyer, 60, of Rt. 1, Jackson Center, Ohio was hospitalized with minor injuries.
